

Antidote: Multi-Racial & Indigenous Girls and Women's Network

Annual General Meeting 2018

Date: Tuesday, September 18

Time: 5:00 – 7:00pm

Place: Victoria Downtown Public Library – Central Study Room #2

Come find your tribe! We are looking for you if you enjoy meeting, learning and networking together with strong, compassionate and empowering women. WHAT! Good food, great conversations and sister solidarity. Here you have the voice to envision the future with us, as Antidote is now “igniting the embers into flames of empowerment”! It is OUR TIME! Workshops, social gatherings, drumming and singing, poetry and spoken word, creative arts, women empowerment activities - to name a few! Hope to see you there!

Antidote: Multi-Racial & Indigenous Girls
and Women's Network:

Established in 2002,
antidote is an award-
winning grassroots
network and community-
based organization of multiracial girls and women in Victoria,
British Columbia.

Our members represent
diverse voices, ages, ethno-cultural, linguistic and religious backgrounds and affiliations in the community.

We work to promote and empower the visibility and needs of racialized minority and Indigenous girls and women.
